

Adventure in Britain (4)

Taro: This one was a bit difficult. "Get something to eat. How about carbs?"

Lucy: It's a traditional English dish!

Taro: Yeah, so that's why I assumed it was fish and chips! But it's not, is it? This is so weird! Carbs on carbs.

Lucy: Yup! The chip butty!

Taro: Why would anyone put French fries in a sandwich?

Lucy: First! These are NOT French fries. These are chips. And second, just try it! It might be nice?

Taro: OK.. (tries it) OK, OK-- it's... not bad... Hey, it goes really well with the HP Sauce! You know, Britain is known for strange and bland food, but this is surprisingly nice!

Lucy: I have no idea what you're talking about! But I'm going to take that as a compliment... I guess?

Taro: OK, Lucy! What's my next clue!

Lucy: Ohh! Finally, you're starting to get into the game! Well, the next isn't a clue, but a task. I want you to go buy some Marmite, liquorice, and... haggis...

(Written by Minao Capper)